

PRESS HANDOUT

PEOPLE'S REFORMATION PARTY (PRP)

Press Interaction: 24 September 2026, 10:05 AM Sharp - Sangai Hall, Hotel Imphal, North A.O.C.

How PRP is Different from the Other Political Parties

The People's Reformation Party (PRP) does not claim that Manipur can be transformed merely by creating a new political party. The real difference must ultimately be demonstrated by the people we put forward, the standards we follow, the way we govern and, above all, the results we deliver.

PRP has been formed with the belief that Manipur needs more than a change of political faces; it needs a change in the standards of public life. Our approach is therefore based on a few clear commitments:

1. Fresh candidates selected through Due Diligence

PRP will field fresh candidates in the 2027 Assembly election who have undergone the Party's Due Diligence and suitability process. The purpose is not merely to offer new faces, but to put forward candidates who meet the Party's standards of integrity, suitability and responsibility.

2. Candidates open to public scrutiny

PRP expects citizens not to simply listen to our claims, but to examine the backgrounds, credentials, integrity, public records, financial interests and other relevant disclosures of our office-bearers and candidates. Membership may be open, but candidature will be selective. Trust must be earned through Due Diligence, not demanded on the basis of slogans.

3. Public office for public service, not personal gain

The people entering politics through PRP do so with the purpose of contributing to a better future for Manipur and for the next generation—not to acquire wealth, privilege or power for personal benefit. This is not something citizens should accept merely because we say it. If elected, our conduct and work are open to the continuing test of that claim.

4. Commitment against opportunistic party-switching

PRP will put in place an internal mechanism under which elected representatives are expected to honour the mandate received on the Party's platform and refrain from opportunistic switching of parties during their term, subject always to the Constitution, law and the rights of elected representatives.

5. Transparency in political finance

PRP is committed to transparent political financing, using lawful and properly accounted funds, and to maintaining the highest possible degree of transparency consistent with the law. Political activity should not become a route to the use of undisclosed or questionable money.

6. Results over rhetoric

PRP expects to be judged less by political rhetoric and more by measurable work and results. The Party is committed to pursuing its stated priorities seriously, within constitutional, legal, financial and administrative realities.

7. A serious commitment to the Manifesto

A PRP Government will remain committed to implementing its Manifesto throughout its term. Priorities will be pursued systematically, reviewed as circumstances evolve, and reported transparently to the people, including both achievements and shortcomings.

8. A political party rooted in Manipur

PRP is formed as a local political party rooted in Manipur, with the intention of remaining accountable to the people of the State. Unlike earlier local political formations that eventually merged with national parties, PRP will preserve its own political identity and accountability to the people of Manipur.

9. No politics of creating hardship for political credit

PRP does not believe in creating or prolonging problems for political advantage and then presenting their partial resolution as an achievement. Government must reduce hardship, anticipate problems where possible and respond to crises responsibly. People should not have to suffer in order for politicians to claim credit.

10. A new political choice and a mandate based on trust

With humility, PRP appeals to the people of Manipur to examine its candidates and programme carefully and bless the Party with a clear decisive mandate in the 2027 Assembly election. PRP will regard such a mandate not as a reward, but as a responsibility entrusted by the people, binding the Party to a profound duty towards the people—an obligation PRP promises to honour through honest, dedicated and accountable service throughout the five-year term.

Conclusion:

Ultimately, PRP is not asking the people to trust us because we are new. We are asking them to examine us and our candidates, our standards and our commitments, and, if entrusted with their mandate, judge us again by our work and results. New people, transparent politics, responsible governance and measurable results—that is how PRP seeks to be different.
